

WHY WE EXIST

Educate Idaho Network was formed to help Idaho achieve its primary education goal: increasing the number of Idahoans who pursue college and career training after high school. The network brings together creative and passionate individuals with an interest in the College to Career continuum, including community leaders from business, state government, and nonprofits, to work toward the 60% goal.

The Educate Idaho Network is building a statewide support system between organizations that share this vision for Idaho students and that have resources or programs either directly helping students reach college or helping to build a college-going culture in Idaho. Our members actively promote education and career readiness as a pathway to success.

BOOSTING COLLEGE & CAREER ACCESS

THROUGH REGIONAL COLLABORATION

OUR GOAL

BY THE YEAR 2020

60%

OF IDAHOANS AGED 25–34

WILL HAVE A POSTSECONDARY
CERTIFICATE OR DEGREE

WHAT WE DO

Our network members focus on increasing communication and collaboration between stakeholder groups to share best practices, amplify the message that postsecondary education is important, and highlight resources in every community that help students achieve success. We share current issues and initiatives and advocate for effective programs targeting students in need of guidance or support.

Network members form local and regional collaboration teams that promote resources available to students and families. They work to keep the conversation continually moving forward about how to improve educational attainment in Idaho. Each fall, members from around the state gather for a one-day meeting where they share their work and the successes that local and regional groups have produced.

The Educate Idaho Network provides support, technical assistance, and grant funding to local collaborative groups to carry out this important work.

WHY YOU SHOULD JOIN US

Increasing Idaho's go-on rate to 60% will take a team effort and many individuals and organizations are already working toward this goal. Connecting all of these groups and this work—across the entire State of Idaho—allows us to maximize our resources and demonstrates a unified voice in support of this aim. The more people and organizations involved in helping connect students with information and resources to finish high school and go on to further education, the more likely we are to succeed. TOGETHER, WE'RE STRONGER.
